Send your photos to help us donate.

What we want is get a community of dog owners to share some of the best slobbering photos of their dogs. :)

Woof Warrior is thrilled to announce that we have chosen Lollypop Farm as our shelter of choice to donate. We want to give back to a local shelter for all the photos that we have been receiving.

Celebrate, share and make others laugh and smile from one of your photos. Although, I am little young to own a dog, I realize photos are one of the best parts of my day. Whether I am taking photos around the world, or sharing a photo on Facebook, its something I believe is awesome.

I can tell you how much your photos would mean for the community because we know other owners love to receive photos from other people. Imagine every photo you send can make this happen:

A dog will be happier by sending your photos because we will donate 10 cents per photo per dog photo. That's 15 days to get 1,000 photos of dogs to our contest. Just look at how much happier dogs become from being adopted. Your photos and opinion matter the most to create Pet Technology(PETT), which is the name of the new app by Woof Warrior.

By now, I am hoping you are wondering a little bit about the contest rules. It's practically just like answer a survey from before. This time you just upload a photo.

- 1. Go to woofwarrior.com/survey (bookmark the page once you go to it)
- 2. Upload as many photos you have of your dogs and earn 10 cents per photo to a local charity
- 3. Vote for the best dog photo starting October 15th, 2015 at woofwarrior.com/gallery
- 4. Each day we will be voting between two different dogs for the first rounds(7 days), then we will have the finalists in a larger group(4 days). Lastly, we will feature the top two in a social media share contest(3 days).
- 5. The winner and the owner get a special prize, and we donate to LollyPop Farm in Rochester.

Good Luck, everyone.
